

Organisation: Prerana

Location: Mumbai

Title: Counsellor

No of positions: 2

About Prerana:

Prerana is a civil society organisation that started its work in 1986 by addressing the issue of intergenerational trafficking into the sex trade in Kamathipura, the then largest red-light area in Asia. Prerana strives to ensure optimum protection of children. This is reflected in the broad spectrum of interventions that provide a continuum of care by addressing issues of child sexual abuse in parallel with anti-human trafficking. Since its establishment in 1986, Prerana's pioneering efforts have been instrumental in supporting victims through the entire cycle from prevention to repatriation. Over a period of three decades, Prerana has been successful in addressing larger issues around sex trafficking, gender-based violence, child sexual abuse and child protection and has been instrumental in bringing policy level changes through their strong advocacy.

About the Anti Trafficking Center:

Human trafficking is a systemic problem and not an episodic or trivial one which can be left to a bureaucracy here or an organization there to tackle. Prerana's approach has been participatory and rights based characterized by demonopolization, debureacratization, and de-regimentalisation meaning the solution of this problem cannot be left with bureaucracy or regimental forces or a handful civil society organizations alone. The intervention process must be socialized in order to involve the private sector, corporate/business world as well as social forces. This is not to deny the indispensability of the police, courts, or jails in tackling the problem. The enormity of the problem demands that these various sectors must be involved in addressing the problem creatively and in a sustained manner.

Statistics in India abundantly shows that the ITP Act (against sex trafficking and sex trade) has been used since 1956 only to revictimize the victim women. It rarely went after the perpetrator or the customer. On the post rescue front there are few success stories or best practices. In absence of dissemination, exchange, sharing and networking some of the success stories which were potentially replicable remained unnoticed.

A problem as complex and huge as this requires corrective efforts on the part of the State and the non-state agencies like the civil society organizations. Although some initiatives are budding there is a need for better coordination and case management approach. The Post Rescue Intervention aims at focusing on certain activities that will address part of this problem by working in close collaboration with the various judicial, semi judicial, administrative and professional agencies to ensure immediate and long-term post rescue, rehabilitation of the rescued victim.
